Late-Breaking News! OH MY NEPTUNE! PEARL Swamp shrieked as she swam into the huge front hallway of Trident Academy. “Did you see the newspaper this morning?” Wanda Slug, Pearl’s good friend, shook her head. “No, I didn’t,” she said. “I had to finish my homework before school.” The two mermaids floated out of the way of some fourth-grade merboys who zoomed past them. Trident Academy was a prestigious school in Trident City. Third-grade through tenth-grade merkids came from all over the ocean to study in the enormous clamshell. The front hall alone was big enough for a humpback whale to take a nap in. Pearl’s blond hair and long strand of pearls swirled in the water as merstudents rushed around her to get to their classrooms. “My dad made me read the front page,” she told Wanda. “You’ll never believe it! There have been shark sightings in Trident City!” “What?” Wanda gasped. “Are you kidding? That’s terrible.” Sharks were the number one danger to the merpeople community. Pearl’s green eyes widened. “I’m serious. I couldn’t even swim here by myself. My father hired a Shark Patrol Guard to escort me to and from school.” Wanda shuddered. “I’m glad I live in the Trident Academy dorm. I wouldn’t want to be swimming home with a shark on my tail.” Both girls looked at their own mer-tails and wiggled them gently. Neither girl noticed that the front hall was almost empty of merstudents. Pearl slapped her gold tail on the shell floor and folded her arms across her chest. “This is ridiculous. What’s wrong with this place? Can’t they keep scary sharks from chasing people? Something should be done.” “Yeah, but what can we do?” Wanda said. “We’re just third graders.” Pearl twisted her necklace in her fingers. “I hate being scared and I hate having a Shark Guard. My dad might not even let me go to Tail Flippers practice if things get worse!” “No!” Wanda gasped. Tail Flippers was the school’s dance and gymnastics team. Pearl sighed. “I don’t know what I’m going to do, but I’m going to do something. I refuse to let sharks ruin my life.” “Uh-oh,” Wanda said, finally noticing the empty hall. “We’d better get to class or Mrs. Karp will ruin our lives!”

My 6 year old daughter loves this book. She is able to read at a fourth grade level and finding appropriate but interesting books for her has become a bit of a challenge. This book series does the job. Each story deals with a different mermaid. Each story is interesting and has held my daughter’s interest.

My 8 year old daughter fell in love with this series. The only thing is that she is on a 6th grade reading level, so she read the whole series in less than a week. She does reread them though and loves the fact that she owns them all.

Niece loved it!

My little girl loves these books - read two a day. You can't go wrong if your child loves these type of books...My daughter is just starting 2nd grade btw...

Good

The girls love these books ages 8-10.

My 7 year old loves this series. She is obsessed with mermaids and I'm so happy we found the series to help her make the jump to chapter books. She does read a bit above her grade level (currently in 2nd), so this may be more on level for 3rd grade.

This book was a gift for my 7 year grand daughter. She has read the whole series and loves them.
